Georgetown Pair Confess Guilt

Balderton Station Robbery Try Admitted; Sentence Will Be Passed On Friday

Clarence Evans and Ed Wills, charged with an attempt at robbery which the court found to be robbery in the first degree, pleaded guilty in Superior Court Monday morning before Judge George H. Thompson.

The robbery attempt was committed at Balderton's Station on Tuesday night of last week, when the two broke a lock off the store door and were frightened away by an electric alarm bell as the door swung open.

The two made application for probation upon which the court will rule Friday, and pass sentence.

Signed confessions by the two state their homes are at Sacramento and that they came to this county on or about May 13 looking for work and went to mining in the Rubicon section, selling $1.28 in gold at Balderton's Station on May 17. They went to Georgetown, engaged in some drinking, and decided upon the robbery attempt while enroute home that night.

Following ringing of the electric alarm, Harry Balderton, who sleeps in the building, was aroused and fired once at the pair as they fled. This spurred them to such speed in their flight that their auto was wrecked on a curve, resulting in their identification. They were arrested Wednesday.

Sheriff Smith reports that both of the men have criminal records and that Evans has served time in Washington state prison, while Wills is on probation now in Sacramento county following a burglary conviction.

L. H. REEDER GUILTY OF RECKLESS DRIVING IN AUTO WRECK

L. H. Reeder, charged with reckless driving in connection with an accident near Nashville on Sunday, May 15, in which Walter Stint, of Sacramento, was injured, was found guilty before Justice of the Peace W. G. Taylor, it was announced by the California Highway Patrol Monday morning.

The sentence of the court was that Reeder should pay a fine of $250, in lieu of which he should serve 125 days in jail. Reeder went to jail.

$500 Realized In Show For Georgia Coleman

LOS ANGELES, (UPI)—Sponsors of a benefit show held for Georgia Coleman, former Olympic diving champion now recovering from a serious illness, today turned more than $500 over to the blonde diver to help pay expenses incurred by her illness.

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—The Supreme Court, in a far reaching decision, ruled today that the federal government may impose income taxes on salaries of Port of New York Authority employees.

SCOUTS END CAMPOREE

Harlan Hall Made Life Scout At Court Of Honor On Saturday Evening

Approximately ninety Boy Scouts of the county returned to their school work Monday morning following the district's second annual camporee, held Saturday and Sunday at the site of old Webberville.

High spot of the two-day encampment was the Court of Honor ceremony around the campfire Saturday night, at which awards were presented to the members of the several troops according to the qualifications attained by the various members in Scouting.

Harlan Hall, of Diamond Springs, received a life Scout award and Floyd Fisher, also of Diamond Springs, received a star Scout award.

The Scouts established camp shortly before noon Saturday and spent the afternoon at games and other contests and the evening at the Court of Honor and campfire program. In the campfire program, members of the various patrols participating had prepared special stunts for the program.

Sunday forenoon there was a religious service conducted by the Rev. Rex A. Barron at the camp and the boys broke camp and returned to their homes following the noon meal.

Area Field Executive Carl Fossette was a visitor at the camp Saturday night and on Sunday, Area Scout Executive Hazen Shower paid the camp a visit.

The various patrols were graded during the two-day camporee upon their compliance with set standards for camping under Boy Scout regulations.

The camp was maintained under the supervision of the District Boy Scout executive committee whose members reported an increased number of visitors this year in comparison with last year.

Folsom 8, North San Juan 5.

Forest Hill-Georgetown (not available).

The El Dorado County Merchants, in the Foothill League, hung up their second victory in a row Sunday, taking Auburn into camp, 9 to 6. The game was played at Marcus P. Bennett Jr., Memorial Park.

The results of Sunday's game leaves the Bartlets in second place with Folsom leading, although no report had been received on the Forest Hill-Georgetown game. Since both Forest Hill and Georgetown had two victories and no defeats last week, regardless of the result in their contest, one of the clubs is tied with Folsom for the top and the other is tied with Placerville for second position, if a game was played.

A large attendance of fans took in the Placerville-Auburn game which saw the Merchants developing too much power at bat for three Auburn hurlers.

Why do garden books always prompt extravagant praise? We have just finished reading one that supplies almost as much information as the World's Almanac, that gives your imagination free rein over space and time and that makes you feel kindlier toward your fellow men. You will have to pay for all this, of course. We are not thinking of the price of the book which is Richardson Wright's "The Gardener's Day Book" and costs $2.50. We are thinking how willingly you will loosen your purse strings for seeds and plants. Mr. Wright is editor of House and Garden Magazine so you can depend upon getting expert advice.

The 365 garden hints that will never let your interest lag once during the whole year are conveniently indexed, besides the two serials "Remembered Gardens" and "Tales from our Valley" you can read how to age a new stone wall and how to hasten the greening and mowing process that will give it the proper patina. You can find mottoes for your sun dial. You will learn that lawn mowers are exactly 107 years old. You will find recipes, unusual ones, for year desert, for snap dragons (made out of raisins) and masculine hints on French dressing and mint sauce.

The element of surprise which Mr. Wright uses so wisely makes the book a continual delight. You expect some matter of fact advice and before you know it, you are rocketed into the starry spheres. Mr. Wright goes up on a mountain top to meditate and you expect something profound. Lo and behold, the gist of his meditation is that nothing dates a house like lighting fixtures and plumbing.

One of the best pieces in the book is about the doctor who was a rosarian and who cured many of his patients by getting them interested in a garden. One patient who had chronic dyspepsia began to improve rapidly after he had covered all of the unsightly places in his yard with climbing roses. By the time he had rimmed the entire lot with rose beds, he was cured completely. Restoring an old garden made one woman forget whatever it had been that ailed her.

Gardeners will read this book without any urging but those who are interested in gracious and genuine living will not want to pass up Mr. Wright's book.

When Mark Twain was a gay young blade over in the neighboring town of Virginia City doing his tall reporting for the "Territorial Enterprise" little did he think that 75 years after college presses would be printing books about him and that there would grow up a fashion in Mark Twain criticism.

A recent addition to the steadily growing Mark Twain literature is Ivan Benson's "Mark Twain's Western Years" published by the Stanford University Press. These years cover the period from 1861 to 1866. The book reads easily and those who are interested in Mark Twain will do well to read it.

As we have all been interested in the Jumping Frog contest at Angels, we will quote what Mr. Benson says about Mark Twain's story "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County."

"At Angel's Camp Mark Twain made what was for him probably the greatest scoop of his career. For he heard Ben Coon tell about the Jumping Frog . . . He wrote it up and it became the foundation of his literary fame." In a letter that Mark Twain wrote to his mother from San Francisco in 1866, when he had no inkling that this story would make him famous, he refers to it as "a villainous backwoods sketch."

On the staff of "The Californian" Mark Twain ran a column where he combined the offices of Dorothy Dix and a university extension course. "Courting etiquette. Distressed lovers of either sex and struggling young authors as yet 'unbeknown' to fame" were promised special attention.

The Mother Lode country is continuing to find favor with writers. In San Francisco the other day a talk was

We have just read in the Saturday Review that Ann Morrow Lindbergh will have a new book out this fall. It will tell the story of the southern section of the Lindberghs' flight around the Atlantic. The title of the book will be "Listen! the Wind." From the same source, we learn that Mrs. Lindbergh's "North to the Orient" has been translated in Dutch, Norwegian, German, French, Japanese, Swedish, Finnish and will shortly appear in Italian.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Close friends of President Roosevelt indicated today that his projected Pacific cruise this summer may be extended to include visits to Ecuador and Bolivia as well as Peru and Chile.

Should he decide to make such a trip, it was pointed out that at its termination, Mr. Roosevelt would have visited every South American Republic except Paraguay, since he became President.

If he goes, it was believed that he would cross the country by train, embark at some California port, such a cross country trip would permit him to stop in Kentucky and Oklahoma where bitter primary battles involving the New Deal will be in progress.

The league plans to play three games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday night of each week.

According to L. J. Anderson, league president, a special section in the grand stand will be reserved tonight for county officials who are the league's guests.

Anderson also stated the outfield boundary has been established on a circle at a distance of 240 feet from the home plate, on which automobiles may be parked. He states that play will be clearly visible under the lights from that distance and requests that auto headlights be turned off.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

A license to wed was issued over the weekend at Reno, according to the United Press, to Pete Tardiff 45, of Camino, and Dolores Remick, 35, of Sacramento.

cockiness, Ham played like the Joe Palooka he draws.

Bud Kelland was no better. A fine writer, Bud unfortunately couldn't use his skill at the typewriter on the short second, and had to rely on his skill with a six iron. The result was terrible.

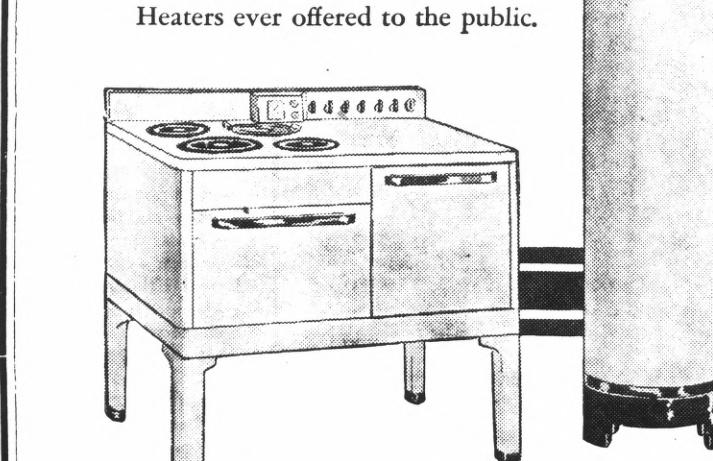

The only ticket I cashed was a show bet on Frank Craven. In a hurry finish and get back to the city to play the lead in the Pulitzer prize play, "Our Town," Frank quit concentrating and started just hitting the ball. The results were astonishing. He reeled off sixes after sixes, which is two under par in our club.

I advocate mutual betting in golf. After all if this country is in as good shape as some persons would have us believe it is, we need a few ways to lose our money.

Yet, even with such a field, Mr. Doyle's experiment was a robust success and it was generally agreed that pari-mutuel betting on such tournaments as the National Open, Western Open and P. G. A. would be welcomed by the golfing public. In the artists and writers tournament, with such players as Grantland Rice, Rube Goldberg, Fontaine Fox, Bud Kelland, Ham Fisher, Frank Cowinshield, Frank Craven and Gene Buck, the mutuels got a play of better than a thousand dollars. It is not hard to visualize a play of tens of thousands of dollars in a big tournament with Harry Cooper, Horton Smith, Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Revolta, Jimmy Thompson, Lawson Little, and all the other crack performers entered.

Can you imagine the rush the betting windows at Denver would get if pari-mutuel were allowed on the National Open? And why not? They are allowed on horses and dogs, and those four-legged articles constitute much more of a hazard than humans. After all, you can't ask a dog or a horse how he feels on a certain day, or how he figures to run in a certain race. When you bet horses or dogs (and I am speaking with the voice of experience, now) you are guessing, and plenty. But in golf a fellow could ask the players how they were hitting the ball, how they felt, how they liked the course, the names of the players feared, before betting any money. Such information would reduce the hazards. Surely I wouldn't have bet on Bull Lea in the Derby and the Preakness if that noble steed had been able to tell me that he felt lousy and didn't think he could pack 126 pounds for more than a mile.

Of course, the human is not always accurate. I played the mutuels at the artists and writers that day, and wound up losing most of my bets. I even tricked myself. With an 18 handicap I was placed in the field, and after talking to myself wagered $2 on my chances. I told myself I felt fine, liked the course, and was ready to go. I didn't figure on that bunker at the fifth, that creek on the 10th, or that bunch of woods on the 18th. Confident to the point of

BRITAIN TO PUT FOOT IN "OPEN DOOR" IN CHINA

SHANGHAI (UP)—It was reported today that Great Britain is preparing to take strong measures to reopen the Yantze River to foreign merchants unless Japan capitulates to American, British and French demands for opening of closed areas.

Informed quarters said that Britain was determined to bring about a return of the "open door" in all areas outside the zones of hostilities. The Japanese have been reluctant to ease restrictions on the movements of foreigners and foreigners and foreign ships.

Naval quarters reported that the British mine sweeper Adventurer would arrive in Shanghai from Hongkong before June 1 and is expected to escort British merchantmen up the Yangtze, at least as far as Nanking.

College Football Must Pay U. S. Tax

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that from a legal standpoint intercollegiate football—even as practiced by state universities—is a commercial activity.

The tribunal held that Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia must pay the usual 10 per cent federal amusement tax on admission fees to their athletic contests and set aside a fifth Circuit Court of Appeals injunction prohibiting collecting of the tax.

Central Japan Jarred By Sharp 'Quake

TOKYO (UP)—Telephone service to 20 central and northern cities was disrupted today by an earthquake which shook central Japan and jarred plaster from some Tokyo buildings.

The earthquake was recorded as starting at 4:19 p. m. with its center near Asama where there have been frequent volcanic eruptions recently.

OREGON DEMOCRATS TO SPLIT, PORTLAND MAYOR CLAIMS

PORLAND, ORE. (UP)—Mayor J. K. Carson, Jr., of Portland, predicted today that the election of Henry L. Hess as the Democratic nominee in the Oregon gubernatorial primary, would split the Democratic party in the state.

The conservative Democrats will rally behind Charles A. Sprague in the November elections and I believe he will be elected," Carson said.

Sprague, Salem newspaper publisher, won the Republican nomination easily, leaving his closest opponent, Sam Brown, farmer, more than 35,000 votes behind. Carson, a Democrat, had backed Governor Charles H. Martin, retired U. S. Army Major-General, who was seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket.

Offer on ELECTRIC RANGES and WATER HEATERS

Save $50 OR MORE

Say good-bye to a hot, stuffy kitchen this summer. Cook electrically. Heat water electrically. Here is an offer that will remove all fears you might have had that an electric kitchen "costs too much."

Think of it—for just a few dollars a month you can have an up-to-the-minute electric range and an automatic electric water heater. End forever working in the stifling heat from an old-fashioned stove or firing up a water coil to get hot water. Right now is the time to take advantage of the most liberal offer on Electric Ranges and Water Heaters ever offered to the public.

LOOK! Read This

1 *FREE WIRING—Up to $50 will be allowed for wiring when you make a combination purchase of an Electric Range and Water Heater providing you now use a coal, wood, oil or tank-gas stove.

2 LIBERAL TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE for your old coal, wood, oil or tank-gas stove cuts down the price of your new electric range.

3 FOR AS LITTLE AS $7.14 a month you can buy a full-size automatic electric range and a 30-gallon automatic electric water heater. That surely is reasonable, isn't it?

4 You use CHEAP ELECTRICITY when you cook this modern way and heat water electrically. Electric ranges and water heaters operate on the low quantity-use rate of the P. G. and E.—a rate that is one of the lowest in the nation. Modern electric cooking and water heating is NOT more expensive than old-fashioned methods.
